Gywnne's Magnificent Garden Is A Winner

Strolling through Dale and Gary Gywnne's garden situated on the outskirts of Allora, it's obvious why they won the best acreage garden in the recent Warwick Horticultural's Annual competition. Dale has all the ideas whilst Gary does the manual work - as a team they produce an interesting, beautifully designed garden. (See more photos inside on pages 8 and 9)

Allora Golf Course Bridge Already Re-Named

The new bridge across the Dalrymple Creek on the Allora Golf Course was to be named the "Tommy Maher" Bridge after local sporting and business icon Tommy Maher. However, after researching the history of golf in Allora, it became clear that there was a very good lady golfer playing at the same time as Tommy by the name of Miss Rita Rickert, who later married Toye Patterson. In discussions with Tommy's son Michael, he unselfishly suggested that the bridge be named the "Maher - Rickert" bridge in recognition of both Tommy and Rita. The "Maher - Rickert" bridge will be officially opened by Michael Maher and members of the Patterson family, in a ceremony at the Allora Sports Club on 21st November 2020 commencing at 2.00 PM. Everyone is invited to attend however names will be required a week prior, for catering and COVID compliance. Please call Wendy on 0437 342 870 if you would like to be involved in this historic occasion.

Allora State School 2020 Chaplaincy Dinner

What a memorable year this will be... COVID-19 has changed so much about our everyday lives!

As we approach the end of this year we are planning our (hopefully) only once in a lifetime "Chaplaincy Dinner which isn't a Dinner"

In third term we welcomed Chaplain Annette Akeroyd to our school community. Chaplain Annette has brought a wealth of experience to take over the role vacated earlier this year by Chaplain Erin. She has already fitted well into the school, involving herself with classes and supporting students, families and staff.

Usually our Chaplaincy Dinner is a great opportunity for friends and supporters outside the school to meet our Chaplain and hear about what's happening.... but.... well, you know the COVID story.

This year it's got to be online... so here's the introduction and next week Annette will have a chance to share some of the important challenges and opportunities of her role.

Finding inspiration in the Landscape

Warwick Art Gallery is showcasing the paintings of popular local artist Nikki Wood during October and November.

Nikki Wood is an accomplished and well respected painter and art teacher. Her paintings encapsulate the peace and tranquillity of local tree lined roads and dense green forests. An aficionado of the weekend country drive, Nikki has found inspiration for this collection of paintings from her drives in the Northern Rivers, Sunshine Coast Hinterland and the Scenic Rim.

Nikki loves the journey to these places as much as the destinations themselves.

"I have a deep love of dense green forests and tree lines roads", says

Nikki, "Standing among tall, towering trees, bubbling creeks and hearing the sound of birds echoing through the forest floor, provides a sense of place and home for me."

Nikki's passion for the places where she lives and travels is evident in her lush landscapes painted in acrylic paint on canvas or in soft pastel on paper. The dappled light of the scenes in her work give the viewer a feeling of being in the moment, right in the place where Nikki found her inspiration.

The exhibition titled On my Way features a collection of 42 artworks will be on display at Warwick Art Gallery from Thursday 29th of October to Saturday 5th of December.

Exotic pest spreads rapidly through Queensland

Australian farmers are being warned about the rapid movement of a threatening new pest throughout Queensland – the Fall Armyworm (FAW).

The destructive caterpillar, which was first detected in Georgetown in North Queensland, has caused devastation in the Atherton Tablelands region through to Bowen, and following recent discovery of FAW in Northern New South Wales, the pest has again been located in Southern Queensland in the Lockyer Valley, Chinchilla and St George.

Principal Entomologist at Department of Agriculture and Fisheries, Dr Melina Miles said early detection and communication within the agriculture community were essential to help battle this latest challenge for growers on the Darling Downs.

"Given FAW was recently detected in the several parts of Southern Queensland, growers should be watching both the level of activity in local traps and closely monitoring the vegetative state of their crops.

"They can work with their entomologist to identify the signs that FAW are active and to distinguish them from native armyworms.

"For sorghum growers it is important that they inspect the crops during that vegetative stage and not just from head emergence, particularly if traps are indicating that FAW are active either North or West of you.

FAWs, native to the tropical and subtropical regions of the Americas, are attracted to maize, sweet corn, popcorn, and pose a threat throughout the growing cycle.

"We've not previously seen a pest that can reduce the amount of functioning leaf area to the point where it warrants control in the vegetative stage, and that is what FAW is doing – particularly in maize and sweet corn," said Dr Miles.

Pacific Seeds, have been working with the Department of Agriculture and Fisheries to develop solutions to combat the FAW, including providing seeds for seed treatment trials, working on an integrated pest management strategy, and simulating damage at varying crop stages to assist in refining the timing of control measures.

Pacific Seeds Summer Grains Agronomist Trevor Philp said farmers need to be aware of the risks.

"The spread of this pest could have unknown consequences for what promises to be a strong growing season, with a La Niña event driving potentially good rainfall across Australia," said Mr Philp.

"That's why we are working closely with the department to help give growers the tools to manage this invasive pest. "Currently we're simulating FAW damage on corn to see when growers should be intervening to avoid detrimental damage.

"This is because FAW damage can look worse than it is, and we don't want growers intervening with pesticides until it's necessary to do so," said Mr Philp.

Following the recent discovery of FAW in the Lockyer Valley, Chinchilla and St George, Dr Melina Miles said that growers need to be monitoring their crops very closely as the pest has potential to impact any crop where food choice is limited.

Allora Swimming Club Returns Bigger and Better in 2020/21

The Allora Swimming Pool has once more become a hive of community activity since reopening on 1st October, heralding the commencement of the Allora Swimming Club's 52nd swim season.

The Allora Swimming Club provides recreational and competitive swimming for children of all ages from across our region. The Club meets at the pool on Friday nights from 5pm for a round of racing each week.

We have seen continual and steady growth in our club participation numbers with Andrew Fidge at the helm of the Allora Pool. Andrew has a strong focus on community swimming and believes that all children should be afforded the opportunity to learn to swim. The benefit of having an interested and active coach at the pool has meant more swimmers are achieving not just a safety level of swim ability, but a competitive level of swimming skills. The running of his learn to swim programs follow on to Junior Squad and then to Senior Squad, where some of our club swimmers are swimming at State and National level. Andrew encourages children who love to swim to join our Allora Swimming Club and enjoy the sport of swimming on a larger scale.

The previous and current committee members have also invested greatly into the redevelopment of our Allora Swimming Club. We are most pleased to report that we have almost doubled our club membership this season.

Allora Swimming Club have been the recipients of three Qld Government grants applied for over the past 12 months. These grants have enabled us to purchase an electronic timing system to be used each club night and for our annual Rotary Carnival. This technology is a leap forward for Allora using some of the newest swim technology available for Clubs. We have also secured a grant to purchase catering equipment to enable the smooth flow of club nights and carnivals.

This will see us very well prepared to run events at the Allora Pool for further fundraising opportunities and positions the club well moving forward.

Allora Swimming Club continues to welcome new families each week. Club Handbooks are available at the Swimming Pool for further information.

To keep afloat of all things swimming this summer, please follow the Allora Swimming Pool Facebook page. We are ready for a great season of swimming!

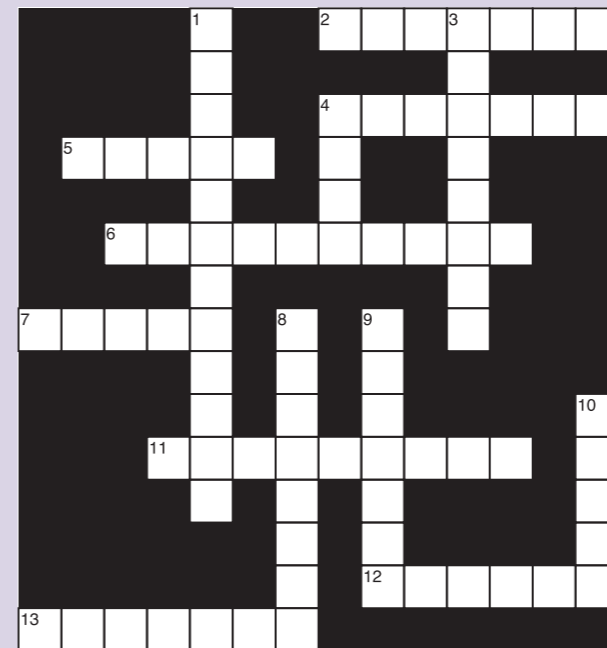

Great to see four busloads of residents from Palm Lakes Resort visiting Allora last week. We always welcome our visitors who enjoy the shops and eateries at our best little Town on the Downs.

Jeremy's View

Crisp's Art Show

Every year the Stanthorpe Art Gallery hosts the Crisp's Art Show. This year the theme we had to choose from was drought floods, bushfire or COVID-19. I chose to do my art about a bushfire. My Mum was in the Rural Fire Brigade in Townsville and my grandfather is in the Severnlea West Rural Fire Brigade. I based the setting in the bush rather than in town. In town they use big red urban firetrucks but in rural areas the rural fire brigades use small yellow firetrucks so I drew them.

I decided to make a collage but instead of cutting pictures out of a magazine I drew them myself. First I got a white A3 piece of paper and coloured it all in green. Then I got another piece of paper and drew a fire, then two dirt roads with a rural fire ute and truck on it. I also drew a burnt house and an intact house and water tank and a burnt down car. I cut out all of my drawings and stuck them onto the A3 paper. Unfortunately I didn't win a prize but I enjoyed making my art and was proud of the end result.
