Good response to Warwick Saleyards Survey

Now that the Warwick Saleyards Survey has closed a series of consultative meetings with key stakeholders as part of the systematic approach to determine the future of the facility and making sure that we select the right project.

Southern Downs Mayor Vic Pennisi said the uptake on the survey had been encouraging and the data now provided a solid and informed platform for the next stage of the decision making process.

"It is encouraging to see that more than 450 community members completed the Warwick Saleyards Survey" Mayor Pennisi said.

"Council takes the future of the saleyards very seriously and our approach to this important decision will be better informed with the feedback received from the community through the survey".

Council is hopeful that a final decision will be made by February/March this year. "The Warwick Saleyards have been a major pillar in the identity of the Southern Downs for nearly 60 years and we need to ensure our region has a quality and progressive facility which meets animal welfare requirements and industry best practice standards. These saleyards are iconic to the Southern Downs," said Mayor Pennisi.

"In reviewing the future of the saleyards, we will consider the facility's viability, sustainability and what the long term financial impact to our ratepayers will be for each option. Animal welfare, environmental issues, industry standards, biosecurity, traffic management, information technology and, workplace health and safety all form part of the key considerations in selecting the right project."

If you have any questions please contact SDRC's Customer Service team on 1300 697 372, by emailing mail@sdrq.qld.gov.au, using the MYSDRQ App, or using the online services at www.sdrq.qld.gov.au.

Make your mark against rural property crime

To assist Queensland Police in reducing rural property theft, rural property owners are encouraged to "Make your Mark."

Police often have numerous items reported lost or stolen that are of a generic nature with limited identifying particulars to use when searching for property.

When intercepting vehicles and going to houses, police may be able to identify stolen property with distinguishing marks.

Have you considered how many of the same coloured quad bikes, generators, portable fridges, bicycles and toolboxes are stolen each year?

The following actions will assist police to reduce property crime, recover lost and stolen property and build better relationships with the community in which they police.

Keep a record of serial numbers and photos of valuable items.

Note or photograph registration plates and vehicles that appear suspicious or attend your property.

Engrave, stamp or paint an identifying mark unique to you – this might be your registered cattle brand or your initials and date of birth.

Register online at mypolice.qld.gov.au to receive up to date information of what is happening in your area.

Lock your vehicles, house, shed when away even for short periods of time, remove valuable items out of sight, and report any missing items to police as soon as possible.

If you have information for police, contact Policelink by providing information using the online suspicious activity form 24hrs per day at www.police.qld.gov.au/reporting.

You can report information about crime anonymously to Crime

Stoppers, a registered charity and community volunteer organisation, via crimestoppersqld.com.au 24hrs per day.

SDRC receives Regional Art Development Funding

Innovative and creative projects within the Southern Downs region will come alive as part of one of the State's most active arts programs, the Regional Arts Development Fund (RADF).

Minister for the Arts Leeanne Enoch said that the long standing RADF program would help to boost Queensland's plan for economic recovery by supporting artists and arts workers with employment opportunities through $4.2 million in funding for regional cultural projects.

"Each year RADF showcases the extraordinary innovation of the arts and cultural sector in regional communities, delivers rich arts experiences and provides important professional opportunities for artists and arts workers."

Southern Downs Regional Council was successful in receiving $39,500 of funding from the State Government, which will be combined with a Council contribution of $50,000 and funds rolled over from last year's program to provide a total funding pool of $102,818 for this year's RADF program.

Throughout previous years, Council's RADF grants have included exciting and diverse projects such as street art, workshops to develop skills, heritage projects and participation of professional cultural artists and entertainers at festivals.

Southern Downs Councillor and member of the RADF Reference Group Marco Gliori said Council is pleased to see the ongoing level of interest and enthusiasm for the arts across the Southern Downs region.

"Council continues to receive exciting and innovative applications for projects that will continue to highlight the importance of the arts and cultural fabric of our region," he said.

"I look forward to reading the applications for this round and make 2021 the most successful year for the arts sector and I encourage anyone who is interested to apply."

Council's first RADF round for applications is now open with the closing date midnight Monday 8 February 2021. It is important for applicants to note that projects for which RADF grant funds are sought must not start before 26 March 2021 and must be completed by 31 March 2022.

Applications will need to be made online via

Marco Gliori, Southern Downs Councillor and member of the RADF Reference Group.

SmartyGrants. The link to the RADF application form and program guidelines is available on Council's website www.sdrc.qld.gov.au/doing-business/grants-to-community.

For further information, please contact Council's RADF Liaison Officer Zoe Dunlop on 1300 MY SDRC (1300 697 372).

Industrial Estate

Warwick Shire Council is concerned about the lack of interest in its new industrial estate on Forest Springs Road. Mayor Bruce Green said that said that only one business had expressed interest in the site and it was costing the Council thousands of dollars. The estate was developed in response to the application by Allora Independent Steel proprietor Peter Briggs to set up a steel sales and fabrication business on another site close to the town boundary. Mr Briggs said that he has not yet decided whether to move his business to the new industrial site because of the Council estimated price of $40,000 per hectare. A Council spokesman said that the council would not profit from the quoted sales price which covered power and water connections, landscaping, and curbing and channelling.

Record Flood

Flood waters have blocked rail traffic over a large part of Queensland. Long distance railway services have been seriously disrupted almost throughout the State and the Railway Department is grappling with one of the biggest flood problems in history. From north to south, east to west, rail traffic blockages have occurred, trains have been held up, and passengers delayed.

Allora recorded 396 points in the 24 hours to 9 a.m.

Fire

At 2 o'clock last Saturday morning the Allora State School residence was completely destroyed by fire. It is surmised from subsequent investigation that the fire was caused by smouldering fireworks cases which it is presumed set fire to the paling fence, the flames quickly reaching the house from which nothing could be saved. It is understood that the furniture was partially covered by insurance which, however, will not nearly cover the loss sustained by Mr C. W. Clark, the schoolmaster, who with his family, was away holidaying at the time.

From Here to There Borderline Regional Arts

A vibrant community based group of artists from the Stanthorpe and Tenterfield areas. This exhibition features work by nineteen members specializing in artist books, ceramics, painting, printmaking, sculpture, textile art and watercolour.

Long journey to an exhibition

Warwick Art Gallery is breathing a sigh of relief as one of the exhibitions cancelled due to COVID19 in 2020, finally will be installed. The Borderline artists group is a collective of artists who live in the Stanthorpe and Tenterfield areas - neighbours on either side of the Queensland and New South Wales border. Their exhibition titled From Here to There opens in the main exhibition space on Thursday 21 January 2021.

The group had its beginning in 1994 and over the past 25 years has blossomed into a strong community based, not for profit organisation encouraging its members' individual artistic development and skill building with a culture of connection and collaboration through exhibitions, workshops, information and ideas exchange plus social gatherings.

The art practice of Borderline Arts Association members is highly diverse and includes watercolour, drawing, print making, fibre, fabric, jewellery design, stone and bronze sculpture, ceramics and painting.

The exhibition From Here to There implies a journey and is open to interpretation on many levels.

Journeys through seasonal and climatic changes, drought, fire and flood, as well as the life within the landscape including people, animals and vegetation provided a wealth of inspiration for the participating artists.

From Here to There includes the work by eighteen artists; Jayne Barrett, Maggie Brockie, Kerry Cannon, Norman Clayton, Raylee Delaney, Krishna Heffernan, Louise Jenkins, Sue Jurd, Gay Landeta, Maryke Millar, Judy Pidgeon, Liz Powell, Eva Rasmussen, Fay Roselt, Nola Sindel, Albert Verschuuren, Anni Washington and Gail Wilson.

The exhibition will be officially opened on Friday 22 January by Stanthorpe Regional Art Gallery Director Mary Findlay.

My trip to Hervey Bay

We have been making plans for a long time to take a trip to Hervey Bay to visit Grandpa (mum's dad) over the Christmas holidays and we decided to go to on the 8 of January 2021. When we started the morning of Friday we didn't have much time to eat breakfast or really anything we wanted to do because we had to pack and at about 10 o'clock we left. We all wanted to do something there: Mum wanted to rest; William wanted to go fishing; and I wanted to go to books by the seaside. We also had a couple stops on the way and went the long way around to avoid going near Brisbane. The first stop was to the Stanthorpe McDonalds for breakfast and the second stop was at the Yarraman bakery. Then we finally got to Hervey Bay. We couldn't wait to do everything. But by the time we got there it was already 6pm and it was far too late to do all the stuff we wanted to do and we would have to wait till the morning. On Saturday morning we could finally do what wanted. We all had a great time fishing with Grandpa. Grandpa has a lake behind his house and we tried to catch some Tilapia but William accidentally caught four freshwater turtles which we let go. We also went fishing at the beach and William caught a flathead which we also let go. I didn't catch any fish but I got to buy some rare old Commando comics at a second-hand bookshop. We're back home now and I can't wait for school to start on 27 Jan 2021.

Local Sporting And Community Groups Could Be Eligible To Receive Funding

Maranoa MP David Littleproud is seeking Expressions of Interest from community groups to receive a share of $150,000 under Round 6 of the Stronger Communities Programme.

"I'm a firm believer in bringing people together and improving community services across rural and regional areas in Maranoa because it has a positive flow-on effect on our quality of life," Mr Littleproud said.

"Up to 20 projects can be funded across Maranoa – ranging from $2500 to $20,000 – and I can't wait to see what projects are put forward to help strengthen our rural communities.

"Our bush communities are the heart of this country and I want to make sure we make the most of this round of funding.

"We're looking to fund small capital projects which encourage community participation in local projects and contribute to our vibrant communities – that could be upgrading the local community hall, installing lights at the football field, building playgrounds at parks or providing essential equipment for the local SES."

"If you have a project that you believe is eligible for funding under the Stronger Communities Programme – I want to hear about it.

"Click on the Stronger Communities tab on my website – www.davidlittleproud.com.au – to download and complete the Expression of Interest form and submit to my office before 18th February 2021."

Completed forms should be emailed to David.Littleproud.MP@aph.gov.au. For more information you can contact Mr Littleproud's office on 4661 2494, or visit www.business.gov.au/grants-and-programs/stronger-communities-programme to view the programme's guidelines.
