Musical Performance At Homestead

On Monday guests at The Homestead in Allora were treated to an unexpected performance by two accomplished musicians who were visiting the town.

It all started just outside Allora when the caravanning couple from South Australia had car trouble so visited a local mechanic who said their vehicle will be out of action for about five days.

While this is unfortunate for the visitors it has been a bonus for Allora.

It turns out that the couple, Craig and Karen Nankervis were members of the Adelaide Symphony Orchestra for about four years.

They both play double bass and were happy to perform for the residents at the Homestead.

To fill in time with no car, word got around that Craig is a Piano tuner. So far he has tuned the pianos at The Anglican Church, Homestead, a private citizen and he has three more jobs on his list.

Free Driver Awareness Training

The Queensland Police Service welcomes Leaner Drivers and P Plate Drivers to take part in this informative and important Awareness training to be held in Warwick next month.

The training day aims to provide the skill and knowledge to safely handle yourself in a high stress situation.

Mechanics will also be on hand to instruct on vehicle maintenance - simple things like how to check your water and oil or how to change a tyre.

It's a great opportunity to upgrade your driving skills and become a safer driver.

Inattentive driving has caused 34% of accidents in the Southern Police Region so the more you learn the better driver you will become.

The training day will be conducted on Sunday 5th May from 3pm to 5pm at Morgan Park Warwick.

If you would like to attend this free training drivers will need to register before Sunday 28th April so appropriate resources can be in place.

Bookings need to be made online - www.morganparkraceway.com.au/event/qps-driver-awareness-training-2 or scan the QR code below with your mobile device.

Long Running Heavy Horse Festival Returns To Gatton

The 45th Gatton Heavy Horse Field Days will be held at the Gatton Showgrounds this Labour Day weekend of the 4th and 5th of May.

Organising committee Vice President Ian Stewart-Koster said this year's event has attracted record nominations from 125 horses, which is a great number.

Mr Stewart-Koster said the obstacle course has had over 50 entries and the clydesdales over 40.

The ridden classes have also been popular.

Entries have been received from some of Queensland's most highly regarded owners and breeders of heavy horses who will travel to Gatton.

Among the competitors will be Mount Marshall's Clare Gorwyn and Peter Lowry, who are heavily involved with the Darling Downs Heavy Horse Festival held in Allora.

Whilst the Field Days are mainly dedicated to the working of heavy horses, this in turn makes for the perfect show and spectacle for the general public to attend and to watch the skill of the heavy horses which played such an instrumental role in the making of Australia's history.

The classes in the main ring will be complimented across the two days with an extensive programme of classes and demonstrations outside the main ring including farrier competitions.

This old age traditional skill is always of interest to many.

Off the back of a world cup winning performance in New Zealand, Mr Stewart-Koster said Bruce Donaldson and his crew of farriers will be participating.

Saturday will see demonstrations held and Sunday will include vaulting, which is essentially gymnastics on horseback.

Carriage rides will also be popular amongst the crowd. Entertainment across the weekend will once again be provided by local Lockyer Valley performer Boyd Ridley who has garnered a following of fans with his easy listening performance style.

Food and coffee will be available on the grounds from a number of food vans and 40 market stalls will be on site to browse.

The Gatton Heavy Horse Field Day is the longest running heavy horse event in Australia having begun in 1978 on a property in Coolana, before moving to Marburg then Laidley, and then to Gatton in 1992 to its current home at the Showgrounds.

Mr Stewart-Koster said he treasures the event, which he first attended in 1980 and has been involved with since the mid 1990s. "We're a positive committee of volunteers," he said.

"Lots of families are involved who share the love of horses." Tickets can either be purchased beforehand online or at the gate.

Pasture dieback spreading in Southern Qld

Graziers are urged to keep an eye out for pasture dieback, which is continuing to spread to new areas of Queensland including in the state's south.

According to the Queensland Department of Agriculture and Fisheries (DAF), newly affected regions in southern Queensland are as close as Warwick and Millmerran and include Inglewood, Goondiwindi, Charleville, Chinchilla, Injune, Roma and St. George.

According to FutureBeef, a collaboration between Meat & Livestock Australia and state agricultural departments, districts affected by pasture dieback in the 2023/24 summer include Nobby.

Queensland Department of Agriculture and Fisheries (DAF) principal agronomist Stuart Buck said pasture dieback has also been detected between these locations and is likely to be present throughout the surrounding districts.

"Pasture dieback generally affects high-yielding sown-grass pastures in regions with more than 600mm of average annual rainfall," Mr Buck said.

"However, it is now spreading into western districts of southern, central and northern Queensland where there has been good summer rainfall."

Pasture dieback is caused by pasture mealybug, a sap-sucking

Expression of pasture dieback affecting one side of a fenceline in south-east Queensland. (image - MLA) insect which is mostly spread by wind.

Pasture dieback is very likely to occur when pasture mealybugs are present in warm and wet conditions with a dense body of susceptible grass.

"Graziers should be on the lookout for symptoms during the summer growing season, when pasture dieback is easier to detect," Mr Buck said.

"Initial symptoms include leaf discoloration and unthrifty growth, before the pasture dies in patches.

"The dead patches are then colonised by broadleaf weeds or legumes - both of which are unaffected by pasture dieback."

Suspected pasture dieback can be reported through the Pasture Dieback App, which can be downloaded for free from the App Store or Google Play, or by calling DAF on 13 25 23.

The DAF has a range of dedicated tools and resources to help graziers identify and manage pasture dieback available at futurebeef.com.au/resources/pasture-dieback

Deadly Fire Ants found at Oakey

The Invasive Species Council has expressed serious concern following the detection of multiple new fire ant nests at Oakey, 29 km west of Toowoomba. The new find, which is within the Murray-Darling Basin catchment, makes a rapid-fire ant funding review by the Federal Government urgent and essential.

"This new detection outside the fire ant eradication zone and within the Murray-Darling Basin catchment should mean alarm bells are ringing loudly in the Prime Minister's office," said Reece Pianta, Advocacy Manager for the Invasive Species Council.

"The Government must spare no expense in responding to this outbreak and the whole community should treat this very, very seriously."

"While we have full confidence in the National Eradication Program's response to this outbreak, we are very worried that not enough money is being spent by governments on the fire ant invasion."

"In recent months we have had new fire ant detections in New South Wales, at Caboolture north of Brisbane and now west of the Great Dividing Range at Oakey.

"These are all taking vital resources away from the main eradication effort. It is now undeniable that there is not enough money to get the eradication job done.

"Eradication remains possible, but right now we are losing the war against fire ants," Mr. Pianta said.

The National Fire Ant Eradication Program has advised that a community member found and reported multiple nests on the Oakey property on 16 April 2024. The nests have been destroyed using liquid insecticide and intensive surveillance activities are underway.

Fire ant nest.

"Everyone in southern Queensland and northern New South Wales should be out checking for fire ants, particularly if you have had any recent material delivered to your property like soil, turf or mulch," said Mr Pianta.

"Fire ants are one of the world's worst super pests and, if they are allowed to spread across the continent, their economic impact will be greater than cane toads, rabbits, feral cats and foxes combined.

"They will devastate Australia's environment and agriculture, cost our economy billions annually and we could see up to 650,000 extra medical visits every year as they sting Australians at the park or in the backyard."

Some important information - Fire ants are dark reddish-brown with a darker black-brown abdomen and range in size from two to six millimetres long. Their ant nests are distinctive mounds of loose, crumbly or fluffy-looking soil with a honeycomb appearance, up to 40 centimetres high, with no obvious entrance holes.

Fire ants can damage electrical and agricultural equipment, sting people, pets and livestock, kill native plants and animals, and damage ecosystems beyond repair.

Those who breach the emergency biosecurity order could face significant penalties with fines for breaches reaching up to $1.1 million for an individual and up to $2.2 million for a corporation.

Fire ants can be lethal to humans, are expected to have a $2 billion per year impact on Australia's economy if they get out of control, will devastate wildlife, cut agricultural output by up to 40% and may cause up to 650,000 extra medical appointments each year.

Fire ants can form rafts during flood events, stowaway in freight or soil, or spread by Queen ant flights of around 5 km per year (and up to 30 km in favourable conditions).

Wattles Juniors Launch into New Season

Wattles junior Warriors played host to the Tenterfield Tigers at Platz Oval on Saturday.

Under 6, 7, 8, 10 & 12 Warriors enjoyed the first Round of the 2024 Warwick & District Junior Rugby League Premiership with a bye given the Tigers club isn't competing in these age groups this season.

Parents, club officials and players were all very happy though with the weather and standard of footy seen in all matches played.

Dalrymple Landscape Haulage Under 9 - Coach Shadai Daley rated her Under 9 team's efforts highly in their initial season outing, "the boys put in a tremendous effort."

The young Warriors ran in an impressive twelve tries to two by the Tigers, with James Patterson earning a Cracker Jack Chicken gift voucher as Player of the Match.

Wattles players can be very proud, "their defence was tighter with tackles by all the team members."

Clifton Auto Ag Repairs Under 11 - Max Death starred in an outstanding effort by Wattles Under 11 side, receiving Man of the Match honours. Max's performance included a fine second half try.

Harry Jones and James Mason lead from the front in the forwards with some impressive hit ups.

Rylee Boom's effort in his initial experience at first receiver was very commendable, while Noah Schwenke's tackling efforts was also a highlight.

Nutrien Harcourts Clifton Under 13 - The Tenterfield Tigers Under 13's were no match for a dominant Wattles outfit who won 40 - 22 in their fixture season opener.

All In Electrical Under 15 Girls League Tag - According to coach George Berry, "the Under 15 girls first fixture game against Tenterfield was always going to be a challenge, and unfortunately we made it harder than it should have been."

Enthusiasm was lacking in defence giving Tenterfield plenty of room to move, and they made Wattles pay a hefty price.

"This is definitely something we will work on going forward" said the coach, "when we have the ball in our hands, we look promising, and our kick chase has improved from previous weeks."

Teeah Davis, Mia Berry, Olivia Brady and Roxy Williams all tried hard in the middle, while Zoey Sweet, Tori Sweet and Lily Hinz played well in the backs.

Highlights of the game included an intercept by Tori Sweet and our only try by Mia Berry.

Drayton Medical Centre Under 14/15 - Despite snatching the premiership points with a 42 - 28 victory over Tenterfield, Wattles Under 15 line-up became aware on Saturday they won't have it all their own way this season, despite strong showings in the pre-season trials.

"We still need to work on our combinations in our halves, and our forwards need to help each other out a bit more" said coach Glen McMillan.

The Under 15's still managing to hold on for the win was certainly pleasing, "but as a whole we will look for improvement at our next game."

Joe Llewellyn was impressive in the second stanza with some strong runs, while Ben Rauchle and Archer Steinhardt posted good performances.

Hamblin Building Under 17 - While Wattles Under 17's claimed a 28 - 10 win over the Tigers in their initial season fixture, it was a very scrappy game according to coach Matt Christensen.

The first half saw the Warriors up 12 - 0 despite a high error rate.

The second stanza however was different story, Wattles more focused on completing their sets.

Billy Peardon was the best on the field, "his control and kicking game led us to the win."

Try scorers for Wattles were Atticus Sullivan (2), Oliver Cooper, Billy Peardon and Charlie Spina, with Ben Barbierato successful with two goals.

Club Hotel, Clifton Under 18 Girls - Wattles Under 18 girls tackle side came up against a polished Tenterfield Tigers outfit, losing on a wet Platz Oval 46 - 16.

A highlight of the game for the home side was a nineteenth minute charging run by Jessica Bateman who off loaded over head to Alex Gilmore to score a vital try.

Considering the playing conditions and the calibre of opposition, the young Wattles ladies put together an impressive effort.

Round 2 - at home again this Saturday when they host the MIT Jets (Millmerran-Inglewood-Texas) at Platz Oval.

Duggan Boots Wattles to Victory

A field goal by half back Matt Duggan in the dying minutes of the Round 3 Toowoomba Rugby League clash between the Stillwater Pastoral Company Wattles Warriors and Valleys Roosters at Clifton's Platz Oval on Saturday evening saw the home side Warriors snatch a vital victory 17 - 16.

Coach Travis Burns couldn't have been happier with the effort of his Wattles A Graders as they eased back into the winner's circle on a rain drenched home base outlasting the Roosters in an absolute nail biter.

The success was the Wattles top side's second win in the opening three outings of the 2024 TRL season, bouncing back from a disappointing loss to an impressive Warwick Cowboys outfit last week.

Aside from the Matt Duggan field goal, Wattles win came on the back of a shining performance by towering 23-year-old front-row debutant Neihana Oldham who was named the Hutchinson Builders Man of the Match.

The 190 cm & 110 kg Oldham is linked to the Western Clydesdales, with a resume that includes playing for the Newcastle Knights in the New South Wales Rugby League Under 19 SG Ball competition, and also with the Manly Sea-Eagles in the Under 20 Jersey Flegg Cup.

Wattles pack earned their spurs against the physical Roosters outfit, with Ty Gardner, Tyson Stevens and Alex Donn all posting impressive performances alongside Oldham.

In a rough and tumble affair, the Platz Oval sin-bin was somewhat overworked with Wattles and Valleys having two players each with enforced ten-minute breaks.

Wattles hit the ground running in the game's opening stages when back-rower & skipper Ty Gardner followed a deft kick by halfback Duggan to dive over and score allowing a 6 - 0 green and gold lead after just two minutes.

Valleys peppered Wattles line around the ten-minute mark, the home side holding out three sets before Roosters backline speedster Dylan Chown found a chink in the armour to touchdown.

Mid-field action certainly wasn't for the faint of heart with bruising defence in the trying conditions, before Valleys lost Declan Buckley and Wattles Jacob Leach to the sin bin in the 36th minute.

Wattles fullback Jackson Green also took the walk to the bin a minute later after another fiery exchange, leading in to half time with the Warriors ahead 6 - 4.

It was the Roosters who next altered the scoreboard to a 10 - 6 lead when second-rower Kooper Diment sailed in for a vital four-pointer five minutes into the second stanza.

Giant Valleys three-quarter Dwayne Duncan was dispatched to the sin bin ten minutes later, and the home side took advantage of their opponents being a man short as elusive centre Matt Christensen found space to score.

Off a Brayden Paix off load, skipper Gardner broke the shackles of the 10 - 10 scoreline crossing to claim his second touchdown with fifteen minutes to play shunting his Warriors ahead 16 - 10.

The Rooster spirit was far from done though, and when slick finisher Alex Hinch chased down a Dylan Chown grubber to the south west corner of Platz Oval the scores were again locked, this time at 16 - 16 with just minutes remaining on the match clock.

An error from the restart that gave Wattles possession deep in Valleys' territory was the card Wattles needed for an opportunity to snatch the game.

The plan obvious as 'Cool Hand' Matt Duggan positioned himself despite heavy opposition traffic for a successful field goal shot from twenty metres out and in front of the posts.

While Travis Burns rated his team's defence highly, "our attack needs some fine tuning" in preparation for this Sunday's clash with the Brothers Leprechauns at Toowoomba's Glenholme Park.

Ladies Open Rimfire - 1st

Helen M with score of 569.3.

Senior Factory Rimfire - 1st was Margaret S 549.21, 2nd was Tony B with 538.6, 3rd Vince A 513.6.

Factory Class is now using a 12-power scope instead of a six power.

250.25. Rabbit & Crow - Gary M 148.8 / 150.15.
