Jill and Andrew expect members at their place at 10 o'clock. You may join a group and go together from 1 Drayton Street Allora with the leaving time at 9.55am. For more information phone Sandra on 0409 542 692 or Jane on 4666 3868.

A date to keep in mind - October when the Garden Circle will choose tree photos to be used for the "Notable Trees of Allora and District" cards. Check out the photos on your phone and the chosen ones will be sent to the Allora Advertiser for printing. Please write on the back of each card a couple of sentences about the trees depicted.

Disaster Plan For Goomburra Valley

Southern Downs Regional Council (SDRC) and Goomburra Emergency Action Group (GEAG) took part in a joint exercise "Home on the Range" at the Toowoomba Showgrounds last week along with five other regional councils and numerous local stakeholders.

Inspector Jamie Deacon

from Warwick represented the Queensland Police Service as Darling Downs District Disaster Co-ordinator.

He told The Allora Advertiser that the event was about providing a consistent approach to evacuation centre management, and the Toowoomba Showgrounds was one site which would be used as an evacuation site in emergencies.

Inspector Deacon said that Goomburra Valley and Allora's environmental surroundings put the area at risk of rapid flooding in large rainfall events.

"Water rises and passes through very quickly," Inspector Deacon said.

"There is no purpose built evacuation centre. We have to make it work with what we've got."

SDRC Community Recovery and Resilience Officer James Wong said that the last year's bushfires had forced Councils to think about how to work together, but had also prompted local groups to develop an action plan.

With only one road

in and out of Goomburra Valley, the community had joined together to develop a joint Local Emergency Action Plan working out what to do if the community was cut off.

"We had bushfires on the Main Range last year," Mr Wong said.

"The Plan gives people an idea of what to do if they were cut off for a day or two."

Goomburra Town Hall President Mary-Lou Gittins said the Plan was close to completion, having been many months in the making.

"It's all about being disaster prepared," she said.

"This has been a really good learning process."

GEAC will be mailing out stick-on magnets (as pictured) on Thursday to residents of the North Branch and Goomburra Valley. Other people in the area are welcome to have a magnet if they contact the Goomburra Town Hall Committee.

It's almost time again for the Annual Frostbite Rally run by the Warwick Chapter of the Historical Motorcycle Club of Queensland. The first Frostbite Rally of the Club was held in 1992 at Leslie Dam and the Rally is one of the few timed rallies still in existence.

Last year over 150 happy riders and pillions enjoyed the icy night-time temperatures but sunny days of Allora and the region.

The Rally will be held this year on 6th and 7th July with riders gathering at the Allora Show Showgrounds.

How Good Is This?

Allora is getting a new footpath which will lead to the Dalrymple Park Caravan/stopover area. Southern Downs Regional Council commissioned the Southern Downs Bricklaying and Concerting Company from Stanthorpe to do the job. The footpath will be about 80 metres in length. It won't replace the entire length of the old path which is still in reasonable condition.

Work being carried out this week with the footpath almost complete.

James Lister Speaks Out: Wind Farms Blow The Seeds Of Community Division

Recent talk of more wind farm developments in our electorate of Southern Downs has stirred up all kinds of anger and ill feeling in the community. The fundamental problem is the exclusion of local input from state government level decisions over where wind and solar farms should be.

As our representative in the Queensland Parliament, I have a duty to express to the Queensland Labor government the concerns which people raise with me. And on this topic, the overwhelming majority of people who have contacted my office and spoken with me in person over the past two months have told me to voice opposition to more "wind farms without consultation or compensation". In fact, if it wasn't for concerned constituents contacting me, I would not have known that companies were quietly going door-to-door seeking landowners to host wind farms near Allora and Greymare. And that lack of community engagement breeds suspicions and makes things worse.

Last week I spoke in parliament and wrote to the Energy Minister, The Hon Mick de Brenni MP, to express the concerns which local councils and residents have raised with me. I publicly published the letter and the speech on my facebook page "James Lister MP - Member for Southern Downs" last week, so that it would be clear to everyone exactly what I have said on this matter.

As I understand things, there are no formal proposals for wind farms around Allora or Greymare at the moment. So far there are only reports of speculative approaches to some local landowners. But what we DO know is that large-scale wind and solar farms - along with the very large power line corridors to connect them - can be approved at state government level under Renewable Energy Zone (REZ) legislation, without the agreement or even input of local communities and local councils. In the case of power lines, this may even involve compulsory acquisitions.

Normally, if someone wants to build a road, a quarry, a feedlot, a grain depot or they wish to subdivide or realign property boundaries, they have to go through an approval process with their local council. In this process, the community is informed, and people have the right to object. If approved, such developments may have conditions attached to protect the interests of the community and the council. Our local council is quite rightly at the centre of that process and our councillors are accessible and accountable to the community for their decisions. But it is different with wind and solar farms and their connecting power lines in an REZ. This override of local community interests is at the heart of the problem with wind and solar farms.

When local communities learn through the grape vine (not through the state government) of potential wind or solar farm developments on their doorstep, they become understandably alarmed, particularly given that the state government has imposed limitations on their rights to have a say or object in REZs. Most of the potentially impacted people I've spoken with had no idea that their property is part of an REZ, despite the labor state government saying that it consulted with communities in developing its REZ roadmap.

I have heard it said by those who desire wind farm developments that people who have moved to our electorate from elsewhere are being unreasonable in objecting to them. I can understand their point of view, especially if they are locals whose family have worked their land for generations. It's true that over the decades, some of the loveliest areas of Southern Downs have seen an influx of residents onto subdivided blocks, or blocks made available to them by the realignment of property boundaries by local landowners.

Those enablers of recent rural zone population increases have been approved via democratically accountable local government processes, and the actions of local landowners themselves. People who have moved into our electorate are entitled to representation from me on state government matters, just as they are entitled to comment on or object to local government over development applications - even if the proposals to which they object are in fact appropriate uses under the local planning scheme zone involved.

The consequence of these changes in population is obvious. In some places - for example some of the areas around Allora and Greymare - the installation of power lines and wind generators, most of which are in excess of 600 feet in height, would result in only a fortunate minority of locals being compensated for the presence of a wind farm. For residents who worry that, without compensation, their property values may be reduced, or that their community may be diminished, it is understandable that they might seek to object. The trouble is that in REZs the normal mechanisms for people to register their objections and influence decision makers has been closed off by the state Labor government. And the developers who know this now have the whip hand. It's this override of the usual safeguards of public opinion and council planning and approval processes which enables big multinationals to disregard local communities in ways impossible for the developers of other developments of similar scale. Lastly, I have been asked "What is your alternative James?". My alternative is to review the state government's laws on Renewable Energy Zones, and to restore - in legislation - a formal seat at the table for local people and local councils on all decisions about renewable energy project proposals impacting their communities. The inevitable result of this would be that large scale renewable energy projects would have to be sent further west, into remote country, and onto large landholdings where the neighbours of the property owner who decided to host a wind farm can't see them.

I do not like this quarrel. I hate to see community division imposed on us by external forces not of our making. And I can understand the disappointment landowners who want to host a wind farm when their MP expresses the voices of those people who object. But if the voices of local communities hadn't been removed from these decisions by the Labor state Government in the first place, we probably wouldn't be engaged in this quarrel at all.

Events of Interest to Property Owners

Understanding Mining Exploration Permits

Southern Downs Regional Council (SDRC) is holding a free information session to understand the implications of Mining Exploration Permit applications and grants on a property.

In response to community enquiry, Council and the Department of Resources will provide assurance to property owners of their rights.

SDRC CEO Dave Burges said the session would be particularly relevant to the agricultural industry to understand how mining exploration permits could affect their operations and land use.

"Agriculture is the region's biggest industry and Council is committed to supporting its continued growth," Mr Burges said.

"Members of the local agricultural industry including growers, wine growers and horticulturalists are strongly encouraged to attend to understand the impacts of applications and grants over a property and their future livelihoods.

"Council is pleased to welcome industry expert Alice Prince, Manager Engagement from the Department of resources to explain how permits and grants work."

Queensland Government's GeoResGlobe has an online search tool to view Queensland's mining and exploration data to determine if or what exploration permits have been applied to each property in Queensland. Visit <https://georesglobe.information.qld.gov.au/> for more information.

Users of GeoResGlobe can access over 600 spatial data layers that include themes such as exploration, production and historical resource authorities, geological and geophysical data, native title areas, administrative boundaries and more.

The information session will be held at the Stanthorpe Civic Centre on Tuesday 4 June from 12.30pm - 2pm.

It's free to attend and there is no need to register.

Grain Marketing Workshops

Growers interested in understanding grain marketing can learn more with a free half-day workshop organised by GrainGrowers and conducted by Market Check.

The workshop to be held at Pittsworth on Thursday 13 June is designed to provide growers with various tools, market insights and solutions to grain marketing requirements and risk management plans.

GrainGrowers CEO Shona Gawel said the workshops had been developed after grower interest in the organisation's trade and market access work.

"Previous workshops have been very positively received and based on feedback we've focused on making sure the resources and information are useful for growers."

Ms Gawel said growers attending the workshops would leave with a renewed understanding of the grain market, the factors that are driving prices and how things like options and hedging can be applied in a beneficial manner.

Market Check's years of experience in research and analysis would provide participants with practical, real-world examples of understanding the market's current state and using available tools to implement appropriate risk management strategies.

Experts will be available to answer any questions.

Willett Electrical Under 7 - With improvement obvious every week Wattles Under 7's impressed across the park against the Collegians Dragons. Olivia Mullen was a standout performer in green and gold, and judged the Crackerjack Chicken player of the match. Charlie Judd and Arlo Cayley were also among those to make an impact.

The young Warriors cohesion and skill were evident in the four tries scored by James Johnson, Ethan Willett, Braxton Harper and Zac Cobbin, with Zac's exceptional performance earning him the Clifton Jam Factory player of the match award.

Dalrymple Landscape & Haulage Under 9 - Their focus on defence is paying dividends for Wattles Under 9 achievers, it formed the foundation of their thrilling 44 - 16 win over the Tigers. Communication is a new focus over the coming weeks suggests coach Shadai Daley.

Nutrien Harcourts Clifton Under 13 - The scoreboard read 28 - 36 against the Wattles Under 13 team at the conclusion of a high scoring match against the home side Tigers.

Jake Burns & Jade Bailey were very sharp in attack.

Will Coy and Noah Hart defended well in centres, as did Jed Hinz in the middle.

Wattles try scorers included Jade Bailey (2), Bohdie Free, Thomas Patterson & Levi Zaddow, while Jake Burns kicked 4 conversions.

Drayton Medical Centre Under 15 - Wattles premiership ladder leading Under 15 outfit emerged from an absolute try-athon at Tenterfield, contributing nine touchdowns to the sixteen scored on their way to a 44 - 34 victory.

Impressive fullback Ben Rauchle nailed a try hat trick in a classy performance.

Aside from Ben, Orry Gilmore (2), Xavier Dalsanto, Ty Betts, Zac Wheelton & Jonte May crossed for Wattles tries, while Ty Betts was on target with four goals.

All In Electrical Under 15 Girls League Tag - In what can be described as a game of two halves, Wattles Under 15 League Tag girls finished behind the crack Tenterfield side 4 - 46.

Tenterfield enjoyed a 32 - 0 advantage at half time, but Wattles emerged to show a complete form reversal.

Coach George Berry commended his players, "they should be incredibly proud of their efforts.

Among those to excel in what was a challenging contest were team captain Teeah Davis, who enjoyed strong support by Mia Berry, Zoey Sweet, Lily Hinz and Roxy Williams.

Farm Spray Under 17 - Wattles Under 17 went down in a surprising loss to Tenterfield four tries to three, the scoreboard reading 16 - 24

Green and gold tries were scored by Dante Shephard-Picton, Charlie Spina and Zac

Wheelton, while Ben Barberato was successful with two goals.

Players to shine included defensive leaders Dante Shephard-Picton and Charlie Spina.

Ever dependable Under 15 Zac Wheelton once again rose to the occasion after stepping up a grade.

The Club Hotel Clifton Under 18 Girls League Tag - Wattles Under 18 girls may have been edged out by Tenterfield 18 - 10, but coach Bill Gorringe was thrilled with the opportunity of seeing his side in action.

Wattles trailed 4 - 12 with thirteen minutes remaining in the game, after an Abbey Monckton try soon after the restart.

But Wattles didn't give up, Billie Gorringe and Regan McMillan worked side by side to send Regan over the line bringing the score to 12-10 in favour of the home side.

The Wattles girls were outstanding, with Lilly Rutherford playing her very first game.

Round 2 - Game 7 - Wattles head to Texas this Saturday in the next round of fixtures in the Warwick & District JRL premiership, matching up against the MIT Jets (Millmerran-Inglewood-Texas).

Wattles Skipper Key to Vital Victory

Local league heroes the Stillwater Pastoral Company's Wattles Warriors A Grade side eased to a 62 - 6 one sided victory over the Newtown Lions on Friday evening at the Drayton based Jack Martin Centre.

The vital win came on the back of another tradesman like performance by skipper Nick Van Der Poel against the injury racked Newtown Lions, Wattles running in eleven touchdowns as they posted a second consecutive winning result in the past fortnight.

The win perches the Warriors in fourth place on the premiership ladder in the shadow of the undefeated top of the table Warwick Cowboys, one point behind the third placed Dalby Diehards and one point ahead of their opponents this coming Sunday the Pittsworth Danes.

Second-rower Van Der Poel earned Wattles player of the match honours deservedly, with classy five-eight Kai Duggan, lock Alex Donn and dominant debutant prop forward Beni Teauapa also shining in a one-sided victory.

Fullback Jackson Green impressed after an injury influenced fortnight, while 18-year-old George Nott filed a gritty performance in the second match of his recently hatched A Grade career.

It was a more than special occasion for young 20-year-old wing finisher Isaac Leach who made his top-grade debut against the Lions, contributing two touchdowns to the Warriors total.

The Round 7 match served as a family reunion with Isaac in the A Grade seventeen alongside his impact forward elder brother Jacob Leach, who is in his second season with Wattles.

The brothers graduated through the ranks of the Highfields Eagles before heading to Wattles.

Another to don the green and gold colours for the first time at the Jack Martin Centre was experienced front-rower Beni Teauapa.

Former Australian Schoolboy rugby league representative Teauapa is linked to the Western Clydesdales but coach Travis Burns found room in the pack for the proven enforcer whose resume boasts 44 NRL games for the Canterbury Bulldogs.

The A Grade contest idled away for the opening half hour in the Wintery weather, the scoreboard locked at 4 - 4 after fifteen minutes, before Wattles took a 12 - 8 lead soon after.

When back-rower Nick Van Der Poel claimed the first of two tries in the latter stages of the first stanza, the Warriors set sail racking up nine unanswered touchdowns on their way to a much-needed victory.

Star halfback Matt Duggan was a non-starter for the Warriors, while talented centre Andrew Richardson was a withdrawal through illness, allowing resourceful three-quarter Lachlan Henry his initial A Grade appearance of 2024.

Richardson is dual registered with Wattles and the Ipswich Jets, and received the call last weekend to make his Hostplus Cup debut for the Jets against the Papua-New Guinea Hunters at Santos National Football Stadium, Port Moresby.

Despite the Jets 18 - 36 loss, Richardson acquitted himself well in state league top company.

Wattles 62 (Nick Van Der Poel 2, Isaac Leach 2, Jacob Meddleton, Lachlan Henry, Kai Duggan, Brayden Paix, Thomas Hatch, Tyson Stevens, Jacob Mouatt tries; Brayden Paix 9 goals) defeated Newtown 8 (William Bevin, Cameron Moodie tries).

Reserve Grade - Two-decade senior grade league veteran Tim Hentschel showed he still has the will 'o' wisp style of his teenage years as he galloped out of the Jack Martin Centre shadows to score three tries in the 'Farm Spray' reserve grade Warriors 48 - 6 success over the Newtown Lions.

Seasoned back row skipper Tom Duggan was the Warriors best, as always leading his side by example, while experienced forward Garth Lonergan and young back-rower Tom Philp also shone in the Warriors performance.

Half back Tom Morris, hooker Zac Stevens, five-eight Ryan Stevens & three-quarter Ben Comerford were among others who provided the necessary support across the paddock in an impressive team showing.

Wattles 48 (Tim Hentschel 3, Marley Tunstead 2, Alex Morris, Garth Lonergan, Tom Duggan, Ben Comerford tries; Tom Morris 5 goals) defeated Newtown 6 (Will Hauser try; Cameron Moodie goal).

Round 8 - Wattles Take on the Danes - Wattles clash with the Pittsworth Danes next Sunday at Platz Oval, Clifton, will see the A Grade teams contesting the Jack Duggan - Gary Sutton Shield for the second time since it was introduced last year.

The A Grade Player of the Match will be awarded the John Bermingham - Jamie Johnston Memorial Medallion.
