before putting his hand up to coach Highfields inaugural Under 18 side.

Wattles Under 18 outfit have also endured difficulties in recent weeks securing necessary player numbers for a team. In pre-season trials against the Fassifern "Bombers" and Toowoomba's Southern Suburbs "Tigers", Wattles were seriously undermanned, however player numbers were boosted significantly against Warwick for the Barrett Shield trials, 20 players making up the Wattles side which went down to Warwick 38 - 4.

This weekend's Toowoomba Rugby League opener kicks off at 2.00 pm at Platz Oval, and promises to be a hotly contested encounter. Wattles Coach Doug Peardon is keen to start the season on a positive note, while the "Eagles" will be wanting a victory as they create history in their first ever game.

Wattles induct 21 year old Holly Whittaker as the club's 2010 Ambassador at Wattles "Masquerade & Ambassador Presentation Dinner" on Saturday night. Holly, an Administration Officer at the Warwick Magistrates Court, is no stranger to the Wattles community, a regular at "Warriors" games with her partner and Wattles Club Captain Aaron Scheid. Holly thought why not commit to Wattles given she supported the club throughout the season, hence her nominating for the club Ambassador role. The gala presentation event will be held at Wattles Clubhouse at Platz Oval, Clifton, including a two course meal and entertainment. Guests are requested to wear a mask and come in disguise, with prizes for the best mask. Admission is only $25.00 per person with all the action commencing at 7.00 pm until late. For bookings please phone 0409 051 678. Club Captain Aaron Scheid is expecting a strong showing of support from players and supporters for Holly at the "Masquerade & Ambassador Presentation Dinner", and is encouraging all involved with the club to book for what is a major event in the club calendar.

As far as Wattles preparation for the new season, Sheid is very optimistic of their chances with the famous club on the cusp of commencing their 45th season. Wattles, known as Allora-Clifton when they initially formed, played their first ever match on the 6th March 1966 against Warwick's Collegians in a pre-season trial. Some familiar players who shone that day included David Achilles, Bevan Crothers, Rob Lester, Ted Cowley and Kev Smith. To reach 45 years of rugby league involvement is a mighty achievement for the sporting club that has become an institution on the Darling Downs. Sheid is confident the 2010 Wattles teams will do their predecessors proud, and predicts competitive line-ups in all grades this year, commenting "We are also shaping up well with (player) numbers for this stage of the season, with very encouraging turns out at training". Injury has already made its presence felt with concerns over some players, most notably tough forward and former local junior Hakan Mackenzie. Mackenzie appears out for the season as a result of a work accident. The strongly built front-rower is a former South West Division junior representative returning to Wattles, and was a valuable addition to "A" Grade Coach Cameron Hamblin's arsenal. This Sunday Wattles will have solid Under 18 performer Travis Downie under a cloud with a rib injury, but Coach Doug Peardon is confident of the ability he can field against Highfields.

Wattles 2010 "Ambassador" Holly Whittaker will be formally announced at the Wattles Rugby League Football Club "Masquerade and Ambassador Presentation" function at Platz Oval on Saturday night.

Wattles Under 18 side to play Highfields on Sunday: 1. Dylan Burns, 2. Sharnn Reardon, 3. Nathan James, 4. Mitchell Rees, 5. Travis Downie, 6. Jordan Henry, 7. Mark Duggan, 8. Carl Gale, 9. Blake Riley, 10. Ross Grundy, 11. Jake Dingle, 12. Matt Kanowski, 13. Tom Patterson - Bench to be named.

Wattles senior teams will next take the field on Sunday 18th of April when the "Warriors" take on Brothers for the prestigious "Danny Ryan Memorial Trophy".

DOCTOR TASK FORCE PUTS ACTION PLAN INTO PLACE

The Allora Medical Services Task Force (ATF) last night put into place an Action Plan designed to see a GP established in Allora. The ATF was formed after a meeting of 600 residents concerned with the lack of medical services in the town, at the Allora Hall some 2 weeks ago.

ATF Chair, local pharmacist John Constable, said the first priority is to see what needs to be done to the old Allora Council offices in Herbert Street.

"We will be talking to a specialist architect as soon as possible to determine the amount of work needed, and what modifications are needed. We hope to have the report back from him by the end of the month."

"We will also be talking to a number of GPs who may be interested in establishing a practice here, if we can get them a suitable building."

"Another key item in our Action Plan will be to ask SDRC to include funds in next year's Budget to complete the necessary renovations."

The ATF is comprised of local community members, John Constable, Roy Smith, David Brown, Glynn Rees, Ann Balmain and David Dwan, together with SDRC Councillors Denise Ingram, Jo McNally and Neil Meiklejohn. Executive Officer for the ATF is SDRC's Economic Development Officer, John Randall.

For further information, please contact the Executive Officer - Allora Medical Services Task Force, John Randall on 4661 7332.

History in the Making, Wattles Host Highfields Debut.

Wattles Rugby League Football Club open their 2010 premierships campaign on Saturday at Platz Oval, their "Allora Foodworks" Under 18 side under the spotlight. The Wattles Under 18 lineup will take part in an historical match up as they take on the Highfields "Eagles". The game will be the "Eagles" first official Toowoomba Rugby League fixture after being admitted to the competition late last year.

The Highfields "Eagles" club is based at Kratzke Oval at Highfields, and has competed in the Toowoomba Junior Rugby League premierships since 2005. This 2010 season sees the "Eagles" taking another important step in their goal to gain full membership of the Toowoomba Rugby League, with their Under 18 side admitted as a competing team this season. While all Toowoomba Rugby League clubs will have two bye rounds within their 2010 season fixtures, only open age grades ("A" Grade & Reserve Grade) will have the byes, the Under 18 competition will see all clubs playing Highfields on those bye rounds. Allora's Past 100 years ago April 1910
A Cheque and a Pony
 A peculiar episode which resulted in a prominent business man being victimised, and another well known resident being deprived, for the time being, of his horse, saddle and bridle, occurred in Allora on Monday last. It appears a stranger of sufficiently reputable appearance, called on Mr. Joseph Sharpe and ordered timber to the value of £5/1/3. He tendered a cheque for £8/10/0 receiving change to the value of £3/8/9. The cheque was drawn on an Allora bank and on being presented, was refused payment, the signature being unknown. On this being brought to his notice, the would-be speculator in timber apologised profusely, and immediately altered the cheque as to make it payable in a Clifton bank. Thereafter without wasting any further valuable time he annexed a pony, saddle and bridle, the property of Mr. Garrett O'Neill. The pony, on which two of the O'Neill children were accustomed to ride to school, was only a small 12 hands pony, but its progress over the hills and far away was most credible to its powers of locomotion. The police were informed and acted with commendable promptitude. Sgt. Kelly traced the pony and rider to Pilton, and taking advantage of the telephone recently connected to Pilton, contacted Gatton. Advice was received that the fugitive had passed through Gatton previous to the call. However on Thursday, word came of an arrest made near Oxley, and a man and pony being held in custody there. The necessary warrants have been sent and further developments may be expected shortly.

CATCH THE CRIMINAL Case of the Jealous Husband

The murder scene was a top-floor flat in a seven-storey block, and the body - that of a young attractive blonde - had been discovered by a window cleaner early that morning.

When Inspector Carter and Sergeant Graham arrived in the small, bright living room of Number 72, forensic experts were already at work.

"She's been shot twice at close range," the doctor reported. But Carter was already examining a revolver fitter with a silencer, handed to him by a detective who had found it under a sofa.

The state of the room suggested that a fight had taken place before the killing. Chairs were overturned and broken crockery from a meal littered the carpet around the victim.

Sergeant Graham bustled into the flat after interviewing the neighbours.

"Her name is Maureen Johnston," he reported, "and from what I've heard it looks like a domestic killing. She had a wandering eye, it seems, and her husband, a long-distance lorry driver, was the jealous type." "Anybody hear anything last night?" Carter asked.

"Well people in the flat below were out. But there's a man called Sanderson who lives at 71 next door on the left who says he thinks heard a gun go off. He's at home now."

Sanderson, a tall thin man about 30, was a clerk in an insurance company. He answered the door with a suitably puzzled frown.

"I'm sorry to trouble you," began Carter tactfully, "but I'm afraid one of your neighbours - Mrs Johnston - has been found dead... murdered. It must have happened last night and we'd like to know if you heard anything."

Sanderson looked startled, and then sat down suddenly.

"Poor woman... I've begged her time and again to leave that swine. If only I'd done something last night!"

"They were fighting?" Graham asked.

"Oh, they were always fighting, but yesterday was worse than ever," said Sanderson. "China was smashed and furniture flung about, and there was some gun shots"

Two hours later, Leslie Johnston was located. Readmitted that he owned the gun, and that he and his wife frequently quarrelled.

"Yes, we had a row last night... then we got everything straightened out," he said. "You see, she and Sanderson were chasing around together, but when I told her straight it was him or me, she agreed never to see him again."

"Why run away then?" Graham demanded sharply.

"I didn't... I left to do an overnight trip in the lorry," Johnston protested. "Maureen was alive when I went - and I've only just got back."

"Well, Graham," said Carter when the two men were alone. "We know who our man is now, don't we?"

Who did kill Maureen Johnston?
